Plus! Don’t miss the separately bookable half-day pre-conference masterclasses

- "Innovative PPPs – maximising resources and opportunities and revitalising cities” led by: Dr David Dombkins, Chairman and National President, Australian Institute of Project Management, and

- "Constructing sustainable and safe cities – encouraging joie de vivre” led by: Professor Peter Newman, NSW Sustainability Commissioner.
Welcome to Australia’s definitive urban development summit

Sustainable development and integrated urban planning requires balancing competing priorities to achieve pragmatic solutions that provide real progress toward long-term goals.

Sydney is the commercial centre of Australia, the nation’s economic powerhouse and international gateway, and we want to keep it that way. To remain economically competitive, we also need to meet environmental challenges such as transport, open space, air-quality, water and waste. A sustainable city is attractive for residents, businesses, visitors and tourists.

In many debates on sustainable urban development, there is a huge ideological gulf with either the economy or the environment given priority. That sort of polarised debate undermines the cooperation vital to finding practical and achievable sustainability measures.

The City of Sydney is proud to support this conference to discuss the complexity of issues involved in keeping our global cities viable and liveable.

Clover Moore MP
Lord Mayor of Sydney

Morning Masterclass A

Creating sustainable cities – encouraging joie de vivre

Led by Professor Peter Newman, Director, Institute for Sustainability and Technology Policy, Murdoch University, Chair, WA Sustainability Roundtable and NSW Sustainability Commissioner and Dr Janette Hartz-Karp, Community Engagement Consultant, Western Australian Minister and Department for Planning and Infrastructure

This half-day Masterclass will focus on creative sustainability and engaging communities in building our urban landscapes. It will combine the approaches of Professor Newman, Australia’s leading sustainability expert, and Dr Hartz-Karp who has won numerous awards for her innovative community engagement exercises. Peter Newman will show how governments, industries and communities can create innovative solutions to their long-term issues such as public transport infrastructure, new land development that saves resources and improvement of liveability, assessment of major projects and natural resource management. Janette Hartz-Karp will discuss how dialogue processes in the community can lead to resolution of complex and strategic issues in a politically-sensitive way. Her experiences in techniques such as citizens’ juries, deliberative surveys and multi-criteria analysis will illustrate how creative community processes can lead to more sustainable solutions.

About your masterclass leader

Peter is the Professor of City Policy and Director of the Institute for Sustainability and Technology Policy, at Murdoch University. He is Chair of the Western Australian Sustainability Roundtable advising the Premier on how to implement their Sustainability Strategy. Peter’s book with Jeff Kenworthy ‘Sustainability and Cities: Overcoming Automobile Dependence’ was launched in the White House in 1999 and his 2001 co-authored book is called ‘Back on Track: Rethinking Australian and New Zealand Transport.’ In 2004 he was made a Sustainability Commissioner in NSW.

Afternoon Masterclass B

Innovative PPPs – maximising resources and opportunities and revitalising cities

Led by Dr David Dombkins, Chairman and National President, Australian Institute of Project Management

This half-day masterclass by Dr David Dombkins will focus on the mechanics of Public Private Partnerships (PPPs) as a solution to managing expensive infrastructure projects. Through PPPs, companies can spread the risk of project financing. These partnerships also enable the public sector to focus on core competencies, while taking advantage of the technological, project management and commercial skills of private sector partners. The masterclass would therefore also examine how the public sector can strike the best PPP deals. This practical guide to financing critical infrastructure would also analyse issues such as probity, public accountability, transparency, efficiency and effectiveness, value for money and clarity in the allocation of risk.

About your masterclass leader

One of Dr Dombkins’ greatest concerns is the inability of traditional project management to successfully deliver complex projects and programs. Dr Dombkins is an international leader in the development of new competencies and methodologies to project/program manage complexity and chaos. He is therefore well-placed to lead the masterclass on how PPPs can best be used in urban infrastructure projects.

Course times and documentation

Registration starts at 1.15pm. The course will commence at 1.30pm and finish at 4.30pm. Refreshments will be provided at appropriate times. Participants will receive comprehensive documentation including all presentations.
Distinguished speakers for City Development World 2006 include:

The Hon. Malcolm Turnbull, MP, Parliamentary Secretary, to the Prime Minister
Prior to his appointment in January 2006 as Parliamentary Secretary to the Prime Minister, Malcolm was a member of the Joint Standing Committee on Foreign Affairs, Defence and Trade. Malcolm was a partner of Goldman Sachs & Co and Chairman of its Australian business from 1997 to 2001. Prior to joining Goldman Sachs, he was Managing Director of an investment banking firm. Malcolm has also been a journalist writing on political and legal subjects. He has co-founded a number of Australian technology companies including OzEmail Ltd. He has written and spoken on a wide range of subjects including demographic change, tax reform, water conservation and urban sustainability.

Wayne Swan, MP, Shadow Treasurer
Wayne Swan is federal Labor's Treasury Spokesman, and the author of Postcode: The Splintering of a Nation. Before Wayne's appointment to his current role, he was for six years Shadow Minister for Family and Community Services (1998-2004). In his time in federal parliament Wayne Swan has been associated, in particular, with issues such as population policy. Wayne Swan was for twelve years a lecturer in Public Administration at the Queensland Institute of Technology (now QUT).

Prof. Edward J. Blakely, Director, Planning Research Centre
Dr. Blakely has for more than 30 years, been a leading scholar, author and practitioner in the fields of planning and local economic development. He has been an advisor to local and regional governments in Korea, Japan, Australia, Indonesia, New Zealand, Vietnam and currently Turkey and Armenia. In 1990, he received the San Francisco Foundation Award for improving community life in the San Francisco Bay Area. In 2002, he was one of the leaders of the Civic Alliance for the Rebuilding of the City of New York from the post September 11 attacks. In 2003, the University of California, Riverside dedicated a new Center for Suburban Sustainable Development in honor of Dr. Blakely. Dr Blakely served as a policy advisor to the mayor of Oakland and organized and led the Oakland response to the 1998 earthquake and 1991 fire.

Brian Newman, Chief Executive Officer and Director, Sydney Olympic Park Authority
Brian has over 20 years international experience in large-scale urban development. In 1989 Brian joined Lend Lease Development and worked on an array of business and technology park and office developments and was an advisor to CSR on plans to redevelop the sugar refinery at Pyrmont Point. In 1994, Brian oversaw the redevelopment of numerous waterfront precincts around Sydney Harbour including the Pyrmont-Ultimo area. He later relocated to Kuala Lumpur, developing one of the largest “new city” projects in South-East Asia. Brian now manages the next phase in the evolution of Sydney Olympic Park.

Christopher Brown, Managing Director and CEO, TTF (Tourism & Transport Forum) Australia
Christopher has, since 1992, been Managing Director of TTF Australia - a national member-funded CEO forum that advocates the public policy interests of the 200 most prestigious corporations in Australian transport, property, tourism & infrastructure. Christopher was involved in the bid and industry liaison for the Sydney 2000 Olympic Games. He is a Member of the Lord Mayor's Sydney Business Forum, the Federal Minister’s White Paper Implementation Group, the Australian Institute of Company Directors and the Indigenous Tourism Leadership Group. He is a Vice-President of the UN-affiliated World Tourism Organisation, sits on the WTO’s Global Recovery Committee, is the regional representative for the World Travel & Tourism Council and a Business Representative to the National Ministerial PPP Forum.

Dr Marc A. Weiss, Chairman and CEO, Global Urban Development
Dr Weiss is head of the Global Urban Development, an international policy education and research organization with offices in Barcelona, Beijing, London, Prague, Singapore, Sydney, and Washington, D.C. He is Executive Director of Global Urban Development Magazine, President of Metropolitan Investment Strategies, Vice President of the United Nations North-North Network for Urban Sustainability, a member of the Steering Committee of UN-Habitat’s Best Practices and Local Leadership Program, a member of the Board of Directors of the International Downtown Association, and a member of the Citistates Group. He previously served as a Public Policy Scholar and Editor of Global Outlook at the Woodrow Wilson International Center, Coordinator of the Strategic Economic Development Plan for Washington, DC, Special Assistant to the Secretary of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development during the Clinton Administration, Associate Professor of Urban Development, Planning, and Preservation and Director of the Real Estate Development Research Center at Columbia University, and Deputy Director of the California Commission on Industrial Innovation.
Why you need to sponsor City Development World 2006

City Development World 2006 draws on both international speakers and key industry leaders that will share their vision and practical strategies for urban city development. The conference will provide a platform to debate lessons and ideas learnt from major overseas infrastructure developments. Government needs to provoke debate, create ideas for a blueprint for metropolitan development strategy with city planners, local council experts, transport advocates, financiers, investors and developers. Rapid population increases bring immediate strain on city infrastructure. All major cities have inadequate infrastructure development and limited natural resources. This is a major challenge for Governments to come up with a Metropolitan Strategy that ensures the sustainable growth of our cities.

City Development World 2006 represents a tremendous opportunity for companies who target this market with innovative products, solutions and services.

Why do you NEED to sponsor – three words – “Return On Investment”

As a sponsor, you will have a unique platform to network with industry colleagues and meet new prospects while enhancing your corporate profile and goodwill to highly targeted, decision-making audiences.

There are a wide variety of exciting and innovative sponsorship opportunities available for astute companies looking to promote their brand to the leading decision-makers of this industry.

This is one event that should not be missed!

- Receive cost effective marketing exposure and branding to your target audience, culminating in face-to-face meetings with your best prospects
- Position and profile yourself as an industry leader
- Increase your brand recognition
- Create new partnerships and alliances

Who should sponsor City Development World Congress, 2006

- Government Agencies involved in creating urban development projects (including Federal – State & Local Councils)
- Regional Development Authorities
- Major Construction and Engineering solution companies who are involved in building (roads, bridges, ports, airports, inner city developments, skyscrapers, marine developments, city light rail or standard gauge railway tracks or major entertainment projects)
- Investment banks who specialise in Infrastructure and Project Finance
- Banks and Financiers
- Consultants in the urban development industry who provide specialist services
- Service providers to urban development and infrastructure projects
- Enterprise solutions providers
- Intelligent Transport solutions providers
- Enterprise technical drawing software solution providers
- Companies with a product and/or a service to the urban development and construction industry
